“Inspiration is when ordinary people do extraordinary things. The ability and willingness to be caring, selfless, creative, innovative...and daring to be different. People like Mother Teresa, Gandhi, Martin Luther King, Jr....All were ordinary people who decided that the world needed their help.

They were true leaders who believed that they could change the world for the better despite impossible odds, challenges, or opposition. They were not afraid to try...

They lifted people up.

Many times the actions of inspiring people who completely unnoticed. What truly inspires are people who works each and every day to better humanity within their own small piece of the world. They do not seek accolades...and need only to know that they gave back and made things better for those in need. Inspired people light a fire that brings warmth and light to others.

Special recognition is given this evening to an organization committed to this kind of excellence. They have inspired us all and have carefully nurtured some of the best and most dedicated cleaning workers in the industry.

In 2018, an Award of Excellence is presented to ...

Los Angeles Habilitation House”

Inspiration

To say the least, we were moved to tears with our hearts overflowing with gratitude for the wonderful people with disabilities with whom we share the journey of work.

Guido and I dedicate this award to all people with disabilities who go to work each day and for all of the people with disabilities who desire to have a job to go to each day. Keep dreaming, keep desiring, keep going, and it will happen. We are humbled and honored to share in the lives of our colleagues with disabilities.

You are the best of the best because of your heart!
